En

'English Only' Policy

At ESC, we want you to succeed. We believe that the fastest way to learn English is to speak and listen to English as much as possible. Also, you can make friends more quickly at the school if you are speaking in English. For these reasons, we have an 'English only' policy at the school.

1

Your First Day

When you arrive at ESC, you will start your first day with a school orientation. This is followed by a placement test and oral interview to assess the level of your English knowledge and skills. You will meet with the Registrar to discuss your academic goals, and to create your personalized class schedule.

Monthly Testing and Report Cards

At the end of each month, you will complete a level test that measures your improvement, and you will receive a report card that shows you an evaluation of your skills. Then you may advance to the next level of study at the school. Most students complete one level every two months.

Electives

Introduction to Writing (Levels 4-5)

In this class, students learn the fundamentals of writing. By familiarizing students with parts of speech, sentence structure, and context, this class provides students with a solid foundation in understanding how writing is different from and more demanding than other forms of fluency, and it prepares them for success in intermediate and even advanced writing classes.

Pronunciation (Levels 5-7)

This class is designed for students who wish to sound just like native English speakers. By focusing on minimal pairs and reduced forms, students learn to identify English sounds and produce them. The course also focuses on word stress as well as sentence stress. This course allows any learner to enter a conversation and speak with clarity and have confidence in his or her ability to comprehend.

Intermediate Functional Writing (Levels 6-7)

This class allows students to produce practical and functional pieces of writing related to many everyday situations. On finishing the course, students are able to use the appropriate register, vocabulary, and grammar in coherent paragraphs and formal and informal letters and emails. Students are shown how to work independently when brainstorming, outlining, and writing, and they are taught how to identify and correct the errors in their own writing in a self-reliant manner.

Business Communication (Levels 7-9)

This class assists students planning to work for an international company. It guides students through the job-hunting process by giving them the language skills to understand job advertisements, create a professional online presence, write an outstanding resume, and excel in a job interview. Students are also taught language and communication strategies to thrive in a variety of everyday business situations.

English for Specific Purposes (ESP)

*- Ai Ishii,
Japan*

ESP programs are designed to improve students' English-language skills in specific areas of study. These programs are designed for students who have strong foundations in English, but who require a more specific scholastic focus.

English for Academic Purposes (UCTP)

"I like ESC very much for many reasons. First, ESC has many activities and you can make friends from different nationalities. Second, all the teachers are great. They make us feel very comfortable and happy while we are studying. Last, the staff members and academic counselors help us with our school life. If you wish to go to school in Toronto, I recommend ESC to you."

English for Academic Purposes (UCTP) is a unique program designed to improve students' academic English skills and prepare them for university and college in the U.S. and Canada. Since the launch of UCTP in 2006, we have been devoted to promoting high-standard academics by assisting students in developing the personal and professional skills needed to achieve excellence.

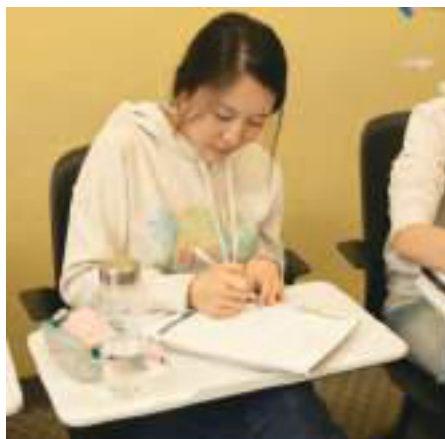

Knowing how to adapt to new cultural settings can be challenging for anyone. For students hoping to study and perhaps work abroad, learning how to integrate into a new educational or work community is the main challenge. In UCTP, we recognize this challenge and understand that students need to experience the situations and learn the skills that will prepare them for success in the real world. For this reason, we have developed a strong curriculum that reflects the needs of students heading into a variety of fields and disciplines.

In addition to such a curriculum, we have great instructors. UCTP instructors genuinely care about the success of their students and are always working to develop new strategies that enable students to perform at their best. Our instructors are committed to helping students integrate into the academic culture of U.S. and Canadian post-secondary institutions. In fact, we have helped hundreds to graduate from universities and colleges from all over the U.S. and Canada—hundreds who are now working in their fields or who have continued on to even higher education.

To sum it up, to those considering post-secondary studies in the U.S. or Canada, UCTP is committed to helping you achieve your goals. We hope to see you soon.

Academic Foundations

The Academic Foundations Course (AF) provides students with a foundation in the academic skills necessary for entry into the University College Transfer program for Pathways. Throughout the course the students will focus on grammar accuracy, strategies to expand vocabulary, reading texts, discussions, and critical thinking techniques. Academic Foundations is invaluable to all students looking for an introduction to academic skills and in particular for developing strategies for grammar accuracy in context.

UCTP Prep

UCTP Prep is designed for intermediate-level students wishing to enter UCTP, but whose level is not high enough. This course focuses on teaching students (who are ESC Level 7) the essential, foundational skills necessary to succeed in UCTP. UCTP-Prep students get a headstart on developing their proficiency in academic writing (which includes paraphrasing, summarizing, essay structure, and grammar), academic presentations, group discussions, and situations requiring precise listening comprehension.
